GOLDEN LEGACY

In collaboration with the library

illustrated history magazines/
comic books series

The ground-breaking "Golden Legacy" comic books series was initially published from 1966 through 1976 with the intention to implant pride and self-esteem in black youth. The books are dedicated to the lives and deeds of Toussaint L'Ouverture, Harriet Tubman, Frederick Douglass, Robert Smalls, and other prominent Black history figures. They feature art by Tom Feelings, Ezra Jackson, and Howard Darden, and Joan Bacchus was one of the authors.

The Library Archives will present the 16 original magazines. The collection is a gift from Mr. Jacob Morris.
